Editors Preface to Scrap Book Vol. V.

7663+

The original copy of the Ministers Record of Rev. Philip Curtis of Stoughtonham was completed in December 1907 and from this MSS. the matter was arranged for Publication No. 5 of the Sharon Historical Society which was issued in April 1908.

The contents of the printed publication is precisely the same as the written MSS. except in form. This change of form was made to improve the Publication as a book of reference for which purpose also a full index of names was prepared and added, as well as to save the expense of more elaborate composition.

The original idea is explained in the "Memorandum for Printer" on the following page and by the MSS. itself. The pen work was done by Mrs. Fannie Wilder Brown, an experienced decipherer and copyist of old writings, and much time and painstaking labor were consumed in the work.

The Foreword to the Volume contains whatever other explanation is needed. The MSS. remains in the same condition in which it was given to the Printer without any additions or erasures.

SHARON PUBLIC LIBRARY

Memorandum for Printer.

Spelling and punctuation and capitalization must be followed exactly, without corrections.

~~Book~~ Article must be printed in columns as in copy; to do this it will be necessary to use finer type in the earlier pages than in the later; wherever a line is over-full finer type may be used. If a column proves too long for the page the lines must be set closer together; they cannot be run on the next page, as the pages are by years.

It is estimated that four pages of MS. will make one page of type. This will give the whole of one year on each of the earlier pages, and of two years on the later pages. Some blank spaces will be unavoidable where the change is made.

The superior letters should be of smaller type; if the dot or colon cannot be set beneath the superior letter, it may be put after it, but the small type should be used in that case too. Smaller type also for foot-notes.

Foreword.

The Minister's Record of the Second Parish of Stoughton (later the First Parish at Stoughtonham, now Sharon) is the property of Mr. Charles F. Curtis of Sharon, the great grandson of the Rev. Philip Curtis the first minister, who has kindly loaned the manuscript for copy and publication.

In form the Record is a little book 6½ by 4½ inches in size, bound in pink brown paper covers and contains nearly 100 pages; the hand writing, originally distinct, is now much faded, blurred in many places, and often can be deciphered only with considerable difficulty; the leaves are stained with much use, yellowed and crumbling with age, and in spite of careful custodianship now exercised over it, the Record must inevitably soon become a relic of sentimental value only.

A study of the contents will reveal many items of Vital Statistics from 1742 - 1794 not appearing in the town records which were not begun until 1765.

e foot-notes will throw light upon some matters otherwise obscure, but in addition, it should understood that throughout the book in almost very instance, the dates in the columns headed eaths' are really those of burials, usually three ays later than the actual dates of deaths as iven in the town records.

As evidence of the progressive characteristics f Rev. Mr. Curtis it is interesting, and worthy of note, hat the first entry in the Record, a baptism Jan. 17, 742, shows that he was using the new style of ating. It was not until September 1752 that January 1st was legally adopted as the beginning f the year and double dating between January st and March 25th was continued by many until an even later date.

A special effort has been made to repro uce the spelling punctuation abreviations, ~~lines di-~~ ~~iding the text into columns and paragraphs~~, and the ~~gen-~~ eral arrangement of the records, ~~exactly~~ as they ap- ar in the original manuscript. Although other copies ave already been made it is believed that no such xactness of detail has been heretofore attempted. A fac- is appended. At the close of the records several pages re devoted to a review of the principal events in his wn life by the minister and these have also been ried and included with the rest.

In publishing the Ministers Record f Rev Phineas Curtis the Sharon Historical Society feels hat it is performing a duty not only to its members nd fellow citizens of the town but also to its reasing number of students all over the country, who actively at work, and to a still larger number of rsons who are at least interested, in historical d genealogical investigation.

To all such friends and co-workers this py is dedicated in the hope that it may add little that is of value to the large stock of already ilable sources of information, and be the means supplying an occasional missing link to e many incomplete chains of New England mily history.

†[Edmund Quincy V., oldest son of Edmund Quincy IV. of Braintree and Boston and his wife Elizabeth, (Wendell), was born in Boston Apr. 15, 1725. His sister Dorothy was the wife of Gov. John Hancock] Hannah Hannet, dau. of Benjamin and Mary (Copeland) Hannet, was the third wife of Edmund Quincy V. About the time of his marriage to her, he bought a farm of 150 acres in Stoughtonham (now Canton). [Convinced by the Boston Massacre, March 5, 1770, that war with Great Britain was inevitable, he set about to prepare arms and ammunition for the colonists in the coming struggle.] On June 6, 1770, in company with Col. Richard Gridley and Joseph Jackson, he purchased 450 acres, including Massapoag Pond, for the purpose of extracting iron ore for the manufacture of war supplies. They built a furnace, partially drained the pond, built roads, dug and prepared the ore, and had the product in readiness to supply the Committee of Safety, who on Jan. 24, 1774, ordered cannon, ball and shot, in certain quantities, to be ~~distributed~~ carried to storehouses in Worcester, Sudbury, etc. From these stations, supplies were distributed to the colonists, who were thus made ready for the Lexington alarm and the raids that were to follow. Mortars also were made and tested at the Pond, sent in to Roxbury, and used for the fortification of Dorchester Heights.

The ~~important~~ part thus played in Colonial History by Edmund Quincy V. was no less important than that of his brother-in-law, John Hancock, the Governor-to-be, and their friend Samuel Adams, whose names, however, are better known to posterity.

Col. Louis de Maresquelle (Marie Louis Armand Amstart de Maresquelle) signed, Dec. 6, 1776, a contract with the Colonial Government for the manufacture of a superior kind of cannon. The peculiarity of their construction was that they were bored solid and then bored out by a process learned from his father, the Marquis of Montalembert. The Marquis had since 1753 been manufacturing such cannon for the navy of the French Government. The cannon, made for the colony, were to be cast at the Carrobert from Formery ~~were to be~~ proved by de Maresquelle in the presence of the Commissioners of the State, and to be furnished by him throughout the war. In return, he was to receive a large sum of money annually during the war and an annuity for life and was to have the honorary rank of Colonel.
